

As a resident of Oklahoma City, K-LOVE offers me a chance to listen to contemporary Christian music and positive commentary without being offended either by words of the songs or inappropriate comments by the announcers. If K-Love is taken off the air in OKC, a large number of Christian listeners in the OKC area would be totally unrepresented in the radio market place. Christians need to hear Christian music as much as country music and rock listeners do.